Dear friends,

Welcome to RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012, a truly inspiring initiative that the European Parliament’s Committee on Culture and Education is proud to support! Eurocamp 2012 provides a great opportunity for young people from diverse social backgrounds across Europe to enjoy five days of intercultural workshops, football, learning and positive encounters in Wroclaw, Poland.

The Committee on Education and Culture sees great potential in youth sports events, which serve as a platform for people from diverse cultures to come together and unite behind their passion for sports. In addition to the exchanges between all participants, the hosts get a chance to present their own culture, hospitality and openness to the rest of Europe.

The event will bring together organisations from all over Europe working in the field of Development through Football. These organisations use football as a tool to promote social inclusion and gender equality, provide access to education, encourage healthier lifestyles and set up strategic partnerships for development.

Eurocamp 2012 is an excellent occasion to bring together young people for an experience which enables them to develop important life skills and grasp the opportunity to shape their own future.

The event will be a great experience for all parties involved. I am confident that all participants will leave Eurocamp 2012 with positive long-lasting memories.

Doris Pack
Member of the European Parliament
Chairperson of the Committee on Culture and Education
Dear friends,

UEFA believes strongly in the power of football to unite individuals, groups and entire nations. Football can be used as a bridge for communication between the many diverse European cultures and societies. These attributes were reflected throughout UEFA EURO 2012 in Poland and Ukraine, which were the first ever European Football Championship finals to take place in Eastern Europe. UEFA also believes that such an event should leave behind a long-lasting legacy and, to this end, we are proud to have implemented RESPECT your Health – Euroschools 2012, the official community health education programme of UEFA EURO 2012, in which over 50,000 children and young people took part in Poland and Ukraine. As another example of our commitment to leaving a legacy that extends beyond the football field, we are happy to welcome you to Wroclaw for the final highlight of UEFA EURO 2012: the RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012!

The RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012 will draw on the positive experiences of UEFA EURO 2012 and foster intercultural exchanges between young people from all 53 UEFA member countries during five exciting days full of new encounters, fair play, learning and respect. Together, we can make this event a huge success, reaching beyond the football pitch and passing on positive and long-lasting values.

Have a great time!

Peter Gillieron,
Chairman of the UEFA Fair Play and Social Responsibility Committee
RESPECT your Health - Euroschools 2012 is the official community health education programme of this year’s UEFA EURO 2012. The one-year project aimed to promote healthy lifestyles, with a focus on smoking prevention, responsible alcohol consumption, healthy diet and physical activity among young people and their families in Poland and Ukraine. Through a train the trainers approach, local institutions and NGOs in the eight UEFA EURO 2012 Host Cities were empowered to activate their communities and promote healthy living.

During the past year, Polish and Ukrainian communities have established a pool of over 600 RESPECT your Health volunteers offering a variety of healthy lifestyle activities for children, young people and their families. Regular workshops for teachers, coaches and community workers, a specially developed guidebook, an interactive website and a physical activity school programme called Muuvit from Finland are just a few of the tools that helped the project reach out to over 50,000 kids across Poland and Ukraine.

RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012 is the final highlight of UEFA EURO 2012 and RESPECT your Health. The girls and boys from the eight UEFA EURO 2012 Host Cities will be joined by young people from around 50 UEFA nations at Eurocamp 2012 to celebrate Europe’s diversity, football and health.

Did you notice the blue RESPECT flag carried into the stadium for the pre-match ceremony of each UEFA EURO 2012 match? The most active boys and girls from the RESPECT your Health projects were selected to carry the flag onto the pitch.
Dear participants,

Following a successful RESPECT your Health programme, we now proudly host the highlight of this project: Eurocamp 2012.

RESPECT your Health was a pioneering initiative not only contributing to the positive development of health education, but also to a more cohesive and proactive Polish community. In Wroclaw, we will combine the enthusiasm of RESPECT your Health with the excitement of Eurocamp 2012, and share it with an international community of over 300 invitees from diverse backgrounds. Wroclaw, Poland, will also be the European Capital of Culture in 2016 and will host the World Games in 2017.

Approximately 30 local volunteers will ensure that the participants enjoy their time in Poland and take home lasting experiences and impressions as well as new friends from all over Europe.

Jakub Kalinowski,
CEO Volunteers for Sport Foundation
EUROCAMP 2012

EUROPE. ONE TEAM. RESPECT.

RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012 is far more than just a football event; it is a celebration of the beautiful game and its power to bring people from different backgrounds together. With financial support from the European Commission and in association with UEFA and the City of Wroclaw, Eurocamp 2012 brings together around 250 people from diverse social backgrounds invited from 53 nations for five days of intercultural workshops, football, learning and fun.

Eurocamp 2012 in Poland will be a “global village” experience with young people from all over Europe coming together, speaking a range of different languages and representing many different cultures. Delegates will spend the first few days in interactive workshops on various topics such as fair play and youth social entrepreneurship, the EU’s role in youth and sport development, as well as learning more about social inclusion and cohesion through various integrated activities. These workshops provide an excellent opportunity for the participants to demonstrate and develop leadership skills and build new friendships. These will be further strengthened by a mixed-teams football tournament which will conclude Eurocamp 2012.

Young Leader team
Eurocamp 2012 uses a very special approach by actively engaging young leaders to support the implementation of the event. A group of 32 young people from Development through Football organisations from across Europe were selected based on their active involvement, strong commitment and leadership skills. During a preparatory meeting, they were trained by KICKFAIR in Germany to prepare for their role and learn how to mediate a football3 tournament.

Dear friends,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Eurocamp 2012, a unique event hosted by streetfootballworld in association with UEFA EURO 2012 and with the tremendous support of the European Parliament and the European Commission.

Bringing together young people from across the continent, Eurocamp 2012 is more than just a football tournament – it is a celebration of diversity, dialogue and respect.

We are especially pleased to continue our cooperation with UEFA and the European Commission, to collaborate with outstanding partners like Volunteers for Sport and the City of Wroclaw, to be supported by some of our most dedicated network member organisations and to work with all European Football Associations and their partner organisations.

On behalf of everyone at streetfootballworld, I thank you all for helping to make this event possible and wish each and every participant a wonderful festival in Wroclaw!

Johannes Axster
Co Founder streetfootballworld

Dear friends,

Welcome to Wroclaw for RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012!

With its multicultural heritage, Wroclaw is a city of tolerance and openness, reflecting the richness of Central Europe’s culture.

As an official UEFA EURO 2012 Host City, the European Capital of Culture in 2016 and host to the World Games in 2017, we believe that events such as Eurocamp 2012 can help foster social change and promote integration, strengthening a multicultural European identity and removing barriers.

We would therefore like to encourage all our European neighbours to visit us and take part in this great event of football, peace and integration.

I hope that all participants take home long lasting memories and the spirit of this unique event in Wroclaw, Poland.

Rafal Dutkiewicz,
Mayor of Wroclaw

In 1982 the Orange Alternative, an underground protest movement, opposed the ruling communist regime through a rather unorthodox means of peaceful protest: by simply placing dwarfs and other absurd and nonsensical items on the streets of Wroclaw.

Today, more than 180 dwarfs can be found throughout the city of Wroclaw. Watch your step and avoid stumbling over a dwarf. It may bring bad luck!

INTEGRATION ACTIVITIES
Guided by our young leaders, the participants will get to know each other while learning about healthy lifestyles and cultural diversity.
WORKSHOPS
During the fun and interactive workshops the young participants will discuss youth leadership and learn how it can be used to promote social inclusion and cohesion. The participants will also learn about the EU’s role in youth development projects and get inspired to become “changemakers” in their own communities.

WORKSHOPS
FOR DELEGATION LEADERS
An interesting set of workshops for the Delegation Leaders will be offered by Development through Football NGOs, Sport Against Racism Ireland, Street League and Albion in the Community. The participants can learn how sports, particularly football, can be used in order to develop multicultural integration, health education and employability.

SIGHTSEEING TOUR
With a population of more than 600,000 people, Wrocław is the largest city in western Poland. Thanks to its inhabitants, active involvement in the life of the city and Lower Silesia, Wrocław is the cultural, scientific and economic center of the whole region. Full of greenery, and situated on 12 islands connected by some 112 bridges, it is an extraordinary place immersed in the history of over one thousand years. The variety of architectural monuments and wide range of culture and entertainment on offer make Wrocław the second most attractive city in Poland.

Discover Wrocław on an exciting tour, get a glimpse of its history and find as many dwarfs as you can.

FOOTBALL3 TOURNAMENT
The Eurocamp 2012 football tournament will be played at the UNESCO world heritage Centennial Hall following the football3 methodology. Using special rules, football3 creates a platform for interactive social learning which enables players to experience what treating others fairly – and being treated fairly – means. football3 is a game of “three halves” where the teams come together prior to the match to discuss the rules, then play and then come back again to reflect upon the game.

FOOTBALL3 RULES AT EUROCAMP 2012
AT A GLANCE:

- Played on small pitches of 10m x 15m.
- Teams will consist of 8 players coming from at least 4 different nations.
- Two boys and two girls per team have to be on the pitch at all times.
- There is no referee; instead there are mediators to oversee the matches.
- Before the match all players come together to negotiate the rules.
- After the match the teams come back together to reflect upon the game.
- Fair play points are awarded by the opposing team.
- The final result is the total of the points awarded for both fair play and goals.
THE DELEGATIONS

The Door

The Door is a non-governmental organization based in Shkoder in northern Albania, near the Montenegrin border. We support people in need, mainly children, using football for education and social inclusion. The Door organises the “Play for Peace” football festivals in different villages, friendly matches to foster exchange with teams from neighbouring countries and participates regularly in the Norway Cup. Our projects are supported by Norwegian Aid, local communes, private donors and the Albanian Football Association.

At Eurocamp 2012, we hope to learn more about social inclusion, fair play football, make friends with the other participants and hear other success stories.

The Andorran Football Federation

The Andorran Football Federation contributes to the fight against racism and other forms of discrimination following such mottoes as “breaking barriers”, “integrity” or “stop racism”. We aim to promote fair play and non-violence on and off the football field.

Our FA seeks to collaborate with entities like UNICEF, Special Olympics or La Gavernera (Children’s Care Home) to foster education of socially disadvantaged children. These collaborations result in friendly matches between the institutions and support of their programmes, e.g. by sending shirts, balls and other equipment to UNICEF projects in Africa.

We are all very happy to take part in Eurocamp 2012!

International Allstar League

The International Allstar League Graz is a cooperation project, established in 2011, between the youth center Don Bosco and the Sports Integration Qualifikation (SIQ) project in cooperation with the Austrian Integration Fund. Teams from different districts of Graz play in tournaments against each other.

The points awarded for winning are equal to fair play points. Points are awarded for participating in workshops and Allstar League Meetings.

The Austrian participants for Eurocamp 2012 are participants in the Allstar League. It was very challenging to only select four participants. They are looking forward to this unique event, which we will remember for a very long time.

Belarus Football Federation

Our Federation understands the unique role of football in society. Our key philosophy of fairness “access equality at any ability and opportunity level” lies at the core of all our social programmes.

We organize different events such as “Unified Grassroots Day” and “Football Holidays with ABFF” where students and children with special needs and from disadvantaged social backgrounds actively participate in healthy lifestyle education, various football competitions and master classes by famous players and coaches.

The trip to Eurocamp will be a novel experience for us. We hope it will contribute to the further development of healthy lifestyle, self-confidence, friendliness and broadmindedness among all the participants.
What is football? Some people may believe that it is just a sport, but it is so much more. At the Football Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina we believe that football is a way of life. It is the only tool that can overcome challenges such as nationalism, racism and give people from different backgrounds a chance to prove themselves. We have decided to give an opportunity to four young people from completely different backgrounds to participate in Eurocamp 2012 where they will be in a new environment, meet other young people, gain new experiences and make new friends.

The Bulgarian Football Union is an NGO founded in 1923, a member of FIFA since 1924 and a member of UEFA since 1954. Being the largest and most prestigious public sports organization in Bulgaria, the mission of the Bulgarian Football Union is to ensure the free choice and access to practicing football and facilitating the development of football in Bulgaria. We are very excited to participate in Eurocamp 2012 and our youth, coming from different Bulgarian cities, are very motivated to represent Bulgaria. We expect Eurocamp 2012 to be a real football festival and all the kids to enjoy and learn a lot from it.

Cross Cultures is a non-governmental organisation that aims to develop a tolerant and democratic civil society. We use sports to bring together children and adults from various ethnic and social backgrounds and advocate positive values such as tolerance, peace, healthy lifestyle and non-violent communication. We teach respect for others and the acceptance of differences, helping children to be citizens of the world. Since its inception in 2003, our Open Fun Football Schools (OFFS) project has been completed in 100 municipalities and cities in Croatia, involving over 30,000 children aged 6-12, and 476 football and other sport clubs and primary schools.
UngdomsRingen is a Danish NGO with 140,000 members from 1,040 youth clubs across Denmark. Together with the Danish Football Association (DBU), they are sending the delegation to Eurocamp 2012. UngdomsRingen's mission is to arrange activities for young people, to educate leaders who work with young people and to ensure a political focus on young people's living conditions. Mr. Daniel Mika of the DBU will be accompanying our delegation. Our four participants all live in Copenhagen but come from other countries. While helping as volunteers in football clubs, they play and love street football. We are looking forward to this fantastic event, to learn from other organisations and to being inspired by their activities, ideas and ways of thinking.

The Football Association’s “Football Futures Programme” is a Leadership and Volunteering Programme. It aims to develop a progressive pathway to foster young leaders in order to develop a skilled football workforce. Annually over 4,000 youths aged 14+ can determine how and where they wish to volunteer across 6 football themes all designed to foster life skills development. All members of the English delegation volunteer in schools and local football clubs. They help out with coaching, refereeing, events and running junior football teams. They hope to learn about different cultures, meet new people and learn about football in different countries. This will be their first time in Poland so they are very excited!

SEB Heategevusfond (Charity Fund) is an NGO established to support children deprived of parental care. The fund collects donations and carries out several year round projects to support children staying in shelters, co-ordinate counseling of foster families and grant scholarships. The SEB Heategevusfond is sending the Estonian delegation to Eurocamp 2012 in co-operation with the Estonian Football Association. Young Estonians going to Poland have played football or been involved in other sports for several years. They are looking forward to exchanging experiences and skills with other European youths. After Eurocamp 2012 they hope to share their new experiences with friends at home.

The participants of the Faroese delegations were chosen in a collaboration between the Faroe Islands Football Association (FSF) and the childrens’ home Føroya Barnaheim in the Faroe Islands. The participants are from Torshavn, the capital of the Faroe Islands, and from the village Søldarfjørður. They all play football regularly and look forward to some exciting and eventful days at Eurocamp 2012 in Wroclaw, Poland, where they have the opportunity to meet other young people from diverse cultural, social and ethnic backgrounds.
“Football for everybody” is the mission of the Football Association of Finland. Our objective is to offer football to all levels and people in society. We are involved in developing multicultural inclusion and antiracism programs for the Finnish football clubs. Our Eurocamp 2012 delegation comes from different clubs and cities throughout Finland. At Eurocamp 2012 we hope to engage in plenty of cultural exchanges with the other youth and of course: play football!

We, the French Football Federation and Alsace League of Football, are proud to represent France at Eurocamp 2012. Through our league we are leading a project called “j’ai rêvé le foot”, “I dreamt the football”, defending values like fair play and respect but also respect for the environment and health.

This trip to Poland and the intercultural exchange with over 250 Europeans will be a great opportunity to share our ideas and values, and a valuable learning experience. It will be like our own “Euro Championship” 2012, in which we would like to represent France the best way.

SportJugendClub Prenzlauer Berg is a club for 10 to 20 year olds in the center of Berlin. We connect different sports and social work to empower young people through workshops with school classes, different sports, such as climbing, football, table tennis and football education projects. Our recently completed project “FAIR FRIENDS 2012” with our partner city Kolobrzeg brought together 400 kids. Our Eurocamp team is looking forward to meet people from all over Europe and of course to playing football. We are very excited about potentially giving a cultural presentation on Germany.
Arci Scampia was founded in 1986 in one of the toughest neighbourhoods of Naples. Arci Scampia is not just a soccer school but serves as a stable anchor for many youths living tough lives.

At Arci Scampia, sport and welfare combine to prepare youth to play football and have a better life. We are looking forward to meeting people from all over Europe, sharing our culture and proudly representing Italy!
SOS Children’s Village in Valmiera currently takes care of 64 orphaned, abandoned and at-risk children in 11 family houses. The children are quite fond of football and diligently practice their football skills on the pitch. A number of children attend special football trainings in town. Valmiera Village has a good relationship with the Latvian Football Federation, whose members often visit the children and play football with them. Our delegation comes from the Children’s Village and the Family Strengthening Project Valmiera. They are excited to make new friends and strengthen their football and language skills.

“aha” is the national youth information centre in Liechtenstein, set up to provide information to young people, support them with training and help them implement projects. Since 2000, “aha” also runs the National Agency for the EU Youth in Action programme. We work with schools, youth organisations and other youth development stakeholders. In 2008, we supported the intercultural youth camp in cooperation with the football association of Liechtenstein as part of the European football championship in Austria and Switzerland. We expect Eurocamp 2012 to help our delegation understand respect and fairness in living and playing with participants from the whole Europe and be a unique experience.

Special Olympics, in Kėdainiai, was founded in 2000 by Rytis Šležys and Gintaras Ėčkauskas to motivate athletes with intellectual/mental disorders and promote their participation in the community and in cultural programs. Our motto is “Let me win, but if I don’t succeed, motivate me to achieve the victory!” All Special Olympics activities are implemented by volunteers. Our club offers a number of sports activities but mostly focuses on the “king” of all sports - football. Our male and female athletes regularly take part in various football competitions such as the special school championships and tournaments, enabling them to display courage and active participation.
Football Friends was founded in 2005, by its current president Zoran Avramovic, to use football to reunite the younger Balkan generation in Serbia, Bosnia-Herzegovina and Montenegro and to negate and heal ethnic and political divisions resulting from the Balkan civil war in the 1990s. Since our inception, we have recruited over 20,000 youths. We aim to collaborate with various institutions to provide youth social development programs through football. Football Friends Niksic, Montenegro, have participated in all tournaments and festivals organized by Football Friends. The members of this delegation are all very nice and friendly and they hope to be excellent representatives of Niksic and Montenegro at Eurocamp 2012.
Teamplay@NAC is the foundation of the professional football club NAC Breda in the Netherlands. As a professional football club in the city of Breda, NAC Breda has a unique position in society. Teamplay@NAC initiates and organizes social projects whose key pillars are sports, education, participation, health, environment and community orientation. We use football to connect and activate people and provide them a means for further personal development.

We expect Eurocamp 2012 be a great athletic and educational event. We hope to establish and develop further cooperation with the different participating organisations!

CHARTER for Northern Ireland

CHARTERNI is dedicated to transforming societies in conflict into peaceful ones resulting in sustainable peace and reconciliation. Social justice based on equality, sustainable development and partnership on a regional and international basis are our guiding principles. We use tools such as football to get people from different backgrounds working and playing together, thus breaking down barriers.

Our delegation, from Catholic and Protestant communities, is very excited and somewhat nervous to come to Eurocamp 2012. It will be the first time we participate in a football3 tournament, our first time going to Wroclaw, and most importantly an opportunity for us to come together, and play, as a team.

Kolstad Fotbal

Kolstad aims to use football's universal rules to develop our local community and help it reach its full potential. Our representatives are role models in training and seek to get as many youth involved in our community. We accept and respect our differences and we believe that together we create an inclusive community. Together, we care! Kolstad is looking forward to Eurocamp 2012. Our youth know how lucky they are to represent Norway. We expect to meet many new friends, experience different cultures, have fun, play football and enjoy every minute of our stay.
The four additional Polish delegations come from the EURO-2012 Host Cities: Gdańsk, Poznan, Warsaw and Wroclaw.

In each city, the selected youngsters took part in various “RESPECT your Health” activities in their local communities. Whether participating in the numerous sport events or getting educated about healthier lifestyle through the “Muuvit Adventure” and other educational games, the participants have shown great motivation and thus were chosen by the local coordinators.

All four RESPECT your Health delegations are very excited about coming to Wroclaw and getting to know the other participants and their cultures!

MSIS is a non-governmental organisation established in 2009 in Mrągowo, in north-east Poland. We aim to promote creative thinking about sports in Polish society. Sport volunteering is a milestone at which we engage all who show interest in the organisation and participation in sport events. It is a means for participants to spend free time, share their experiences with others, discover new interests and perspectives in society and be an important part of the community.

We hope to take fresh ideas and experiences from Eurocamp 2012 that will enrich our volunteering roles back home in our own communities.

Our organisation’s mission is to foster and empower children and youth through acceptance, provision of a home and family within a community: the Village. We work to strengthen children’s family and social networks, and to prevent the risk of them losing their homes and care of their biological family.

Our delegation was chosen for their exemplary conduct in school and their responsibilities in the Village. This is a greatly prized opportunity for us to travel to Poland and participate in very fun and educational activities. We hope to make new friendships with young people from around the world.

The Football Association of Ireland’s Intercultural Football programme is collaborating with the Corduff Community Youth Project and Sport Against Racism Ireland (SARI) to send a delegation to Eurocamp 2012. The Intercultural Football programme uses football to promote participation and challenge racism and discrimination, thus supporting the process of integration nationwide.

Corduff Community Youth Project runs a variety of activities to help teenagers build relationships and develop personally. SARI aims to use sporting and cultural events to bring together people from different cultures and backgrounds and promote intercultural dialogue.

The delegation hopes to enrich their personal and cultural development by exchanging with other young people during Eurocamp 2012.
The Policy Center for Roma and Minorities

The Policy Center for Roma and Minorities aims to empower underperforming children from the poorest communities in Romania to break the vicious cycle of marginalization, poverty and hopelessness in which they find themselves through sports and education. Our direct beneficiaries are 150 Roma and non-Roma children aged 7 to 15. We focus on the children because we believe that education is the most sustainable solution to their challenges. Our delegation is very eager to be a part of Eurocamp 2012 in Poland. We hope to have a good time alongside other enthusiastic and open-minded children and youth.

Federazione Sammarinese Giuoco Calcio

The Federazione Sammarinese Giuoco Calcio (F.S.G.C.) has been involved in youth football since 1998 in cooperation with 15 San Marino Clubs. F.S.G.C promotes, organizes and finances all activities. Annually, an average of 40-50 boys and girls under the age of 13 participate. In 2004, the female section was introduced and currently approximately 40 girls are registered. All teams play in San Marinese, as well as Italian regional and national championships. All the coaches hold UEFA licences and are really motivated to work with the youngsters. Our delegation is really looking forward to Eurocamp 2012 and meeting other European youths.

Scottish Football Association

The Scottish FA is the National Governing Body for football in Scotland. We are delighted to participate in Eurocamp 2012. Our delegation comes from 2 High Schools where we run 'School of Football', a social and academic project giving pupils football training. They transfer skills learned such as communication, listening and emotional management to the classroom in order to improve general skills and abilities at school. The members of the delegation have a great passion and enthusiasm for football and sport. They are really looking forward to Eurocamp 2012, which they describe as a “once in a lifetime opportunity”.
Football Friends was founded in 2005, by its current president Zoran Avramovic, to use football to reunite the younger Balkan generation in Serbia, Bosnia-Herzegovina and Montenegro and to negate and heal ethnic and political divisions resulting from the Balkan civil war in the 1990s. Since our inception, we have recruited over 20,000 youths. We aim to collaborate with various institutions to provide youth social development programs through football. In 2008 and 2009 we organized the first two European Street Football Festivals in Foča, and in 2011 the Third European Street Football Festival in Belgrade. We hope to share our experiences and also learn from others during Eurcamp 2012.

The Slovak FA, together with the Central Office of Labour, Social Affairs and Family and the Appel Group, organizes the football tournament “Appelia cup” for the children’s homes as part of its Grassroots Program. The “Appelia cup” 2012 was attended by over 500 children from 52 children’s homes between the critical ages of 13 to 18 years who were given a chance to experience their first victory in life and sports despite adversity. The Slovak FA selected the delegation from the children’s Homes in order to motivate them to continue living healthy and learn foreign languages that can be great assets in their future.

The Football Association of Slovenia is bringing a delegation that is united in their love for sports, especially football, to Eurocamp 2012. For some, football is what empowers them to take on life’s adversities and conquer them. Our team comes from Bela Krajina (White Carniola), a region in South-East Slovenia well known for its pristine white birches and traditional folk dancing. This will be our first time in Poland. We are looking forward to not just playing football, but also learning about different European cultures, making new friends and strengthening the spirit of camaraderie and fair play values.

We envision a world in which every child has the right to survival, protection, development and participation. We are mobilising people globally to challenge world leaders to help the poorest children survive and fulfill their potential.

Save the Children, made up of thirty national member organisations, raises funds and provides medical aid, food, water and safety for children in the world’s poorest countries. Our delegation has been participating in a Save the Children program aiming to fight child poverty and social exclusion. We hope that the participants gain knowledge from different perspectives and are motivated by the other kids at Eurocamp 2012 to further their personal development.
Huddinge IF is a football club of over 1500 players, located south of Stockholm with the goal of providing a good football education and fun free time activity for children aged 5-18. We use football for social inclusion and building a sustainable society. Since 2007 our “Football Fridays”, a free drop-in night of football, has welcomed around 300 kids each Friday in a safe and fun environment thus keeping them off the streets. “Football Fridays” is spreading to other difficult areas in Sweden. We look forward to connecting with like-minded people at Eurocamp 2012 and sharing our Swedish football skills!

The Turkish Football Federation is committed to providing high quality football education and facilities, and creating a big grassroots movement and sport culture nationwide. We are spreading the football! Our “Live with Sports” project, operating in Nazilli and Aydin, works with about 300 children at risk of criminal activity to keep them away from dangerous environments and prevent crime through the use of football training and other social activities. Successful youths will be recruited by the national recruitment agency. We are excitedly counting the days to Eurocamp 2012 and hope to take away many unforgettable memories from the event.

Football Federation of Ukraine (FFU) is responsible for developing football in Ukraine. A key priority is promoting healthy lifestyle through grassroots football with the support of the “Open Fun Football Schools” social project. Our five delegations come from four EURO-2012 Host Cities: Kyiv, Kharkiv, Lviv and Donetsk. All participants actively took part in “RESPECT your Health” activities in schools and football clubs. For us, football is not about winning or losing. It is about using it as a relaxed base for people from all over Europe to meet and engage in intercultural exchange. We therefore look forward to meeting other European youths at the Eurocamp 2012.
Thanks to an initiative of the European Parliament, the European Commission’s sport unit is the main supporter of Eurocamp 2012. The sport unit, which is part of the Directorate General for Education and Culture (DG EAC), is particularly committed to supporting sport within all layers of society. The European Commission is the European Union’s executive body, representing the interests of all European citizens. DG EAC believes that sport is a wonderful tool to foster social inclusion and intercultural dialogue, giving young participants the opportunity to get involved.

The City of Wroclaw in Poland is the official partner and host of Eurocamp 2012. Wroclaw has for a long time been a melting pot for intercultural dialogue between young people from all over the world. The City of Wroclaw actively promotes the principles of fair play, particularly amongst young people. The City of Wroclaw proudly welcomes the Eurocamp 2012 event participants and guests. Wroclaw boasts a strong infrastructure and free transportation throughout the city for guests and participants. The City of Wroclaw hopes that Eurocamp 2012 will leave a lasting impression on all of the event participants and visitors.

streetfootballworld believes in the unique power of football to change lives and bring people together behind a common goal. The streetfootballworld network unites over 90 community-based organisations in more than 60 countries worldwide which use football to tackle issues ranging from HIV/AIDS education and gender equality to homelessness, gang violence and landmines. By connecting network members with partners from the worlds of sport, business, politics and philanthropy, streetfootballworld brings global power to local initiatives. streetfootballworld has successfully implemented social legacy programmes during UEFA EURO 2008 and 2012, with RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012 as a further highlight of this year’s European Championship.

Volunteers for Sport Foundation was established by several sport enthusiasts in 2009 who believed that volunteer support is crucial for modern sport. V4SPORT.EU created by the Foundation is an innovative portal that recruits volunteers willing to help during sport events or for everyday activities throughout the world. The Foundation cooperates with a growing number of over 60 sport organisations and almost 2000 volunteers. Together with streetfootballworld and Open Fun Football Schools Ukraine, Volunteers for Sport coordinated RESPECT your Health – Euroscolas 2012, the official community health education programme of UEFA EURO 2012.
Supporting Partners

KICKFAIR

Based on the Street Football for Tolerance method, also known as Fútbol Callejero or football3, KICKFAIR develops holistic long-term, applied concepts for education, learning, training, and schooling. International learning partnerships are a special focus of KICKFAIR’s work. By involving participants in the organisation itself and its projects, KICKFAIR encourages them to take the initiative in developing their own social skills for the future. At Eurocamp 2012, KICKFAIR will lead the football3 mediation during the tournament and coordinate the young leaders in their role as mediators. To ensure a successful football3 tournament, they have trained the young leaders prior to the event at the Eurocamp 2012 preparatory meeting.

Street League is a streetfootballworld network member delivering services throughout the UK from operational centres in London, the North East of England and Glasgow. The organisation uses a unique programme of football and education to help participants improve their health, extend their social networks and gain a positive outlook. At Eurocamp 2012 they will share their expertise in using football to help young people find employment, education or training opportunities.

The European Youth Forum empowers young people to participate actively in shaping Europe and the societies in which they live. The European Youth Forum assisted in recruiting workshop trainers for Eurocamp 2012.

Sport Against Racism Ireland (SARI) has supported cultural integration and social inclusion in Ireland by using sport, and particularly football, as a medium to combat racism, sectarianism, homophobia and other forms of discrimination. Presenting their approach of multicultural integration to the delegations leaders at Eurocamp 2012, SARI will show how sports can be used to promote social inclusion in Europe.

Albion in the Community (AITC) delivers both educational and football-related projects in Sussex, England as well as youth leadership in Latin America, India, and West Africa, and HIV/AIDS prevention in East Africa. A member of the streetfootballworld network, AITC uses football to tackle inequality, combat exclusion and challenge social barriers for over 50,000 people a year. AITC will hold a workshop on health promotion through football and Eurocamp 2012.

The Brandenburgische Sportjugend aims to use sports as a tool for social development in more than 2600 youth clubs in Brandenburg, Germany. Crime prevention, integration through sport, street football for tolerance, mobile street projects, youth camps, spare-time activities and educational programmes are the main pillars of the organisation. During Eurocamp 2012 the Brandenburgische Sportjugend will contribute football pitches as well as directing the football3 tournament.
THANK YOU

The RESPECT your Health Eurocamp 2012 would not be possible without the support of our partners and the great effort of all the people involved.
